The following feedback has been provided by three successful mini-pupillages at KBG Chambers in 2026:

“I was fortunate enough to spend time with KBG Chambers' crime and family teams, where I saw a variety of work and advocacy throughout the week, including a final determination hearing, trials and conferences with clients. From the excellent organisation provided by the clerking team to the high-quality advocacy in court, I saw Chambers' strong collegiality and professionalism. The barristers I shadowed provided me with an engaging experience by fully explaining their cases and providing advice for a career at the Bar, and were always most happy to answer my questions. I am very grateful to KBG Chambers to have had the opportunity to undertake such a memorable mini-pupillage in a prominent chambers in the Southwest.”

“From 24 to 27 June, I had the privilege of undertaking a three-day mini-pupillage with KBG Chambers, which I was fortunate enough to secure after winning the UPLS debate competition. I had the opportunity to shadow Daya Mann, Charlotte Davies and Hollie Gilbery across civil, family and criminal work, observing hearings and trials in court and, where time permitted, discussing the cases and outcomes with the barristers afterwards. This gave me a valuable insight into advocacy and life at the Bar, while building on the experience and understanding of the profession I had already developed through previous opportunities. One experience that particularly stood out was speaking with Charlotte about her civil practice and work in inquests, an area I had not previously considered in much depth, but which really sparked my interest.”

“Mini-pupillage with KBG Chambers was great in that it helped to demystify many aspects of the bar for me. Through shadowing both civil and criminal barristers in courtrooms across the southwest, I was reassured to find that everyone I met was incredibly friendly and open to offering me advice and plenty of information about my future career. I would definitely recommend anyone thinking about applying to do so!”
